Course Structure

The Bachelor of Fine Arts course is constructed around visual studio studies from which a major is developed, which is supported by studies in art history and theory and workshop technologies.

Following an introductory program in Session 1, which covers the full range of studio disciplines, students nominate the area in which they wish to major. As well as subjects in studio disciplines students undertake core subjects in art history and theory.

Electives and Workshops plus Art History and Theory Electives are also undertaken throughout the course. Refer to the schema on the Structure of Bachelor of Fine Arts course.

Elective Subjects

Students are required to complete a total of 8 studio electives and workshops in Visual Arts and 4 history and theory electives.

Elective Subjects

Elective Subjects

Students are required to complete a total of 8 studio electives and workshops in Visual Arts and 4 history and theory electives.

theory electives (see schema of Structure of Bachelor of Fine Arts on page ??). These elective subjects are chosen from the selection listed under the section Elective Subjects for Undergraduate Courses at the end of the undergraduate course section.

- Studio electives in Visual Arts page 70
- Studio workshop electives in Visual Arts page 72
- History and Theory electives page 62

General Education

Students are required as part of their studies, to complete 30 credit points of study in General Education subjects or their equivalent. General Education must be undertaken in subjects taught by faculties of the University, other than the College of Fine Arts.

The questions of intent, content, process and context are explored in relation to the production of project based works that lay the foundations for the development of the individual student's artistic language.

COFA3002

Introductory Studies: Photomedia, Sculpture, Time Based Art
S1 HPW6 CP20

This studio based subject introduces the student to the broad experience of working with photomedia focusing on image, object; sculpture focusing on installation, object, performance; time based art focusing on sound, video, performance. Emphasis is upon the development of a keen critical awareness by looking at the content and context of contemporary art and culture. The questions of intent, content, process and context are explored in relation to the production of project based works that lay the foundations for the development of the individual student's artistic language.

practice which will form a foundation for their introductory and subsequent major studies. There will be a focus on issues of health and safety and environmental responsibility for the professional artist. Through lectures, demonstrations, exercises and projects, students will develop an awareness of processes and techniques to realise their emergent concepts.

COFA3011Drawing/Painting 1

S2 HPW6 CP20

Prerequisite: COFA3001 Introductory Studies: Drawing, Painting, Printmedia

This subject will assist students to develop and extend the basic concepts and skills in drawing and painting. Students will be encouraged to understand both the inter-relationship of form and content and the creative possibilities of various media and techniques. The importance of analytical observation will be emphasised. Students will be expected to attain a basic competence in drawing and painting by the end of the session.

COFA3012Photomedia 1

S2 HPW6 CP20

Prerequisite: COFA3002 Introductory Studies: Photomedia, Sculpture, Time Based Art

This subject introduces the student to the broad experience of working with photomedia. The subject emphasises the development of a keen critical awareness in students by investigating the content and context of photographic images in contemporary visual art and culture. The questions of intent, content and context are focussed toward the development of the individual's visual language. Students will have the opportunity to explore the use of image-making processes such as digital imaging and the opportunity to consider the relationship of photomedia to time-based media and three-dimensional form.

COFA3013Printmedia 1

S2 HPW6 CP20

Prerequisite: COFA3001 Introductory Studies: Drawing, Painting, Printmedia

This subject will introduce students to basic concepts and skills in printmedia, developing a firm skills base from which they will expand in their continuing studies in the discipline. Students will be encouraged to understand both the inter-relationships of form and content and the creative possibilities of various media and techniques in both two and three dimensions. In line with current art practice, expression is encouraged through the use of traditional and contemporary print media including etching, digital imaging, lithography, paper moulding, photocopying, relief and screen printing. The importance of analytical observation will be emphasised. Students will be expected to attain a basic competence in printmedia by the end of session. Studio health and safety and the appropriate handling and presentation of prints will be covered.

COFA3014Sculpture 1

S2 HPW6 CP20

Prerequisite: COFA3002 Introductory Studies: Photomedia, Sculpture, Time Based Art

This studio based subject provides the basic foundations for sculptural studies through a series of projects that are a trajectory into the students' personal creative enquiries. The projects foster a marriage of concept to process, intention to outcomes. Critical awareness and interpretive skills are developed along with an understanding of basic sculptural languages such as metaphor, narrative, metonymy, spatiality, materiality, form, mass, scale.

The interdisciplinary nature of contemporary sculptural practice is explored through a diversity of experiences such as producing works using time, light, installation, body works, clay, 3D digital visualisation, sound, collaboration and performance, as well as exploratory applications of traditional forms and methodologies.

COFA3015Time Based Art 1

S2 HPW6 CP20

Prerequisite: COFA3002 Introductory Studies: Photomedia, Sculpture, Time Based Art

Time Based Art is a cluster of units dealing with the complex multiplicity of artistic forms which use the passage of and the manipulation of time as the essential element. Time Based Art 1 introduces key concepts in time based art with specific reference to experimental film, video art and installation, sound, performance and multimedia computing. The subject develops critical awareness by close study of histories of the moving image and the expressive use of technology and the human body. Concurrently the subject provides preliminary technical training in the various technologies used in the production of video, sound and performance works.

COFA3802Drawing

S2 HPW3 CP10

This subject will provide a foundation of drawing skills and introduce students to a basic drawing vocabulary. A range of approaches will be taken and diverse media will be explored. Through the investigation of drawing process, students will be encouraged to develop an expression appropriate to, and integrated with, their major area of art practice.

Year TwoCOFA2007*Art History and Theory 3

F HPW2 CP10

This subject will critically examine aspects of art history and theory which can be seen as relevant to contemporary visual arts. Art History and Theory 3 will enable students to gain a critical understanding of the historical development of art practices which structure the contemporary practice of art.

COFA3920Drawing/Painting 2

S1 & S2 HPW8 CP20

Prerequisite: COFA3011 Drawing/Painting 1

In this subject students will be encouraged to develop an imaginative interpretation of concepts relevant to drawing and painting. In consultation with the teacher, students will examine and begin to develop studio studies which demonstrate an understanding of contemporary and historical practices in drawing and painting.

COFA3930Drawing/Painting 3

S1 & S2 HPW8 CP20

Prerequisite: COFA3920 Drawing/Painting 2

In this subject students will investigate and interpret concepts relevant to drawing and painting. In consultation with the teacher, students will develop a program of studio studies which demonstrate an understanding of individual interests and enable students to relate to both art history and contemporary practice.

COFA3921Photomedia 2

S1 & S2 HPW8 CP20

Prerequisite: COFA3012 Photomedia 1

This is a studio based subject which extends the student's practice in the construction of images. The subject extends the student's critical awareness of current theory. The subject extends the student's technical skills by introducing the manipulation/colour processes of equipment. Students are directed to the production and advancement of conceptual approaches in the production of images.

COFA3931Photomedia 3

S1 & S2 HPW8 CP20

Prerequisite: COFA3921 Photomedia 2

This is a studio based subject which extends the student's practice in the construction of images. The subject extends the student's critical awareness of current theory. The subject extends the student's technical skills by introducing the manipulation/colour processes of equipment. Students are directed to the production and advancement of conceptual approaches in the production of images.

COFA3922Printmedia 2

S1 & S2 HPW8 CP20

Prerequisite: COFA3013 Printmedia 1

In this subject students will be encouraged to develop an imaginative interpretation of concepts relevant to printmedia. In consultation with the teacher, students will examine and begin to develop studio studies which demonstrate an understanding of the significant concepts and theories within printmedia.

Students may choose to produce divergent or interdisciplinary works such as spatial, temporal, ephemeral or performative installations, or develop particular sculptural forms related to object making, works related to the body, or traditional mediums such as bronze casting. The emphasis at this stage is the transition from a reliance on set projects towards self initiated project work in consultation with lecturers. The representation of the students' ideas and studio methodologies are supported by the continued acquisition of skills pertinent to their needs, including the presentation of projects, field work, studio theory and the documentation of completed works.

COFA3924Time Based Art 2

S1 & S2 HPW8 CP20

Prerequisite: COFA3015 Time Based Art 1.

This subject introduces the conceptual understanding and technical skills underpinning practice in time based arts. Screening programs and analysis of sound, the moving image and performance augment the students' knowledge of the traditions and contemporary contexts of technological and non-technological art forms. Students become familiar with the processes of video production, 16 mm cinematography and editing and/or computer-based image and sound technologies. Students are directed to develop a body of work which integrates technical and conceptual approaches.

COFA3934Time Based Art 3

S1 & S2 HPW8 CP20

Prerequisite: COFA3924 Time Based Art 2.

This subject furthers the conceptual understanding and technical skills underpinning practice in time based arts. The subject examines the traditions and contemporary contexts of art practices which developed in response to the mediums of film, television and multimedia. The subject investigates the interactions between film, video, sound and computing technologies in time based art practices. Students develop a body of work exploring and integrating these technologies in art.

Year ThreeCOFA2008*Art History and Theory 4

S1 HPW2 CP10

This subject will explore the many interrelationships between artistic practices, whether drawing, painting, printmedia, photomedia, sculpture, or time based art, and critical and theoretical issues that arise out of these practices and have been used to 'frame' and comprehend them. Many modern and postmodern artists chose to carry a 'toolbox' of history and of philosophical assumptions into the studio with them. The overall aim is to enable students to gain a critical understanding of both the historical and contemporary discourses which have framed our understanding of the role and meaning of art.

COFA3800Professional Practice

S2 HPW2 CP10

This subject will prepare students completing the BFA for professional practice as artists in Australia.

COFA3940Drawing/Painting 4

S1 & S2 HPW8 CP20

Prerequisite: COFA3930 Drawing/Painting 3.

In this subject students will concentrate upon their major creative interests. Students will begin the initiation and execution of a body of studio work which demonstrates the relationship between their own work and current art practices and concepts. Students will be encouraged to analyse the relationship between perceived aims and results achieved in their studio practice.

COFA3950Drawing/Painting 5

S1 & S2 HPW8 CP20

Prerequisite: COFA3940 Drawing/Painting 4.

In this subject students will concentrate upon their major creative interests. Students will be required to initiate and execute a body of studio work which demonstrates the relationship between their own work and current art practice. In this subject students are expected to extend and develop the focus of their inquiry towards a coherent body of work which incorporates previous theories and concepts.

COFA3941Photomedia 4

S1 & S2 HPW8 CP20

Prerequisite: COFA3931 Photomedia 3.

In this subject the student will concentrate on developing the production of a body of work which demonstrates an understanding and refinement of the concepts and contexts central to their individual art practice. The works produced will be an investigation of research possibilities and the investigation is initiated by the student and undertaken with lecturer supervision. It is expected that students will continue to refine their digital/analogue technical skills to a standard appropriate to the concerns in their work. Students are directed toward an analysis and critical awareness of current visual arts practices and issues. Interdisciplinary studies are encouraged where relevant to the projects undertaken.

COFA3951Photomedia 5

S1 & S2 HPW8 CP20

Prerequisite: COFA3941 Photomedia 4.

In this subject the student will concentrate on the production of a substantial body of work which demonstrates an understanding and refinement of the concepts and contexts central to their individual art practice. The works produced will be a culminating point in the area of practice. The student and lecturer will expect that analogue techniques and concerns in the analysis and synthesis of practices and concepts will be encouraged.

COFA3942Printmedia 4

S1 or S2 HPW8 CP20

Prerequisite:

This subject will be developed in the creative expression of the student's major. This subject will demonstrate current art practice and intended study.

COFA3952Printmedia 5

S1 & S2 HPW8 CP20

Prerequisite:

This subject will be developed in previous subjects in the creative expression of the student's major. This subject will demonstrate current art practice and intended study.

COFA3943Sculpture 4

S1 & S2 HPW8 CP20

Prerequisite:

This studio based subject will be initiated with the student's emerging personal style. The acquisition of new methods and techniques will be employed to demonstrate the ability to articulate.

An experimental approach will encourage the student to explore interdisciplinary and ephemeral media. The use of particular materials such as bronze casting and discourses which have framed our role and meaning of art.

Practice

Prepare students completing the BFA for practice as artists in Australia.

CP20

COFA3930 Drawing/Painting 3.

Students will concentrate upon their major area. Students will begin the initiation and execution of a body of studio work which demonstrates the relationship between their own work and current art practices and concepts. Students will be encouraged to articulate the relationship between perceived aims and intentions in their studio practice.

CP20

COFA3940 Drawing/Painting 4.

Students will concentrate upon their major area. Students will be required to initiate and execute a body of studio work which demonstrates the relationship between their own work and current art practices and concepts. Subject students are expected to extend the focus of their inquiry towards a coherent area which incorporates previous theories and intentions.

CP20

COFA3931 Photomedia 3.

The student will concentrate on developing a body of work which demonstrates an understanding and refinement of the concepts and contexts central to their individual art practice. The works produced will be the result of research possibilities and the direction initiated by the student and undertaken with supervision. It is expected that students will refine their digital/analogue technical skills appropriate to the concerns in their work, directed toward an analysis and critical awareness of current visual arts practices and issues. Studies are encouraged where relevant undertaken.

CP20

COFA3941 Photomedia 4.

The student will concentrate on the production of a body of work which demonstrates an understanding and refinement of the concepts and contexts central to their individual art practice. The works produced will be the result of intensive research and study within the area of photomedia. The investigation is initiated by the student and undertaken with lecturer supervision. It is expected that students will continue to refine their digital/analogue technical skills to a standard appropriate to the concerns in their work. Students are directed toward an analysis and critical awareness of current visual arts practices and issues. Interdisciplinary studies are encouraged where relevant to the projects undertaken.

COFA3942

Printmedia 4

S1 & S2 HPW8 CP20

Prerequisite: COFA3932 Printmedia 3.

This subject will continue to build upon concepts and skills developed in previous sessions. Students will investigate the creative possibilities of media appropriate to the expression of individual ideas. Students will concentrate upon their major creative interests and will be required to initiate and execute a body of studio work which demonstrates the relationship between their own work and current art practices and concepts. A proposal outlining intended studies is required.

COFA3952

Printmedia 5

S1 & S2 HPW8 CP20

Prerequisite: COFA3942 Printmedia 4.

This subject will consolidate concepts and skills developed in previous sessions. Students will continue to investigate the creative possibilities of media appropriate to the expression of individual ideas. Students will concentrate upon their major creative interests and will be required to initiate and execute a body of studio work which demonstrates the relationship between their own work and current art practices and concepts.

Sculpture 4

S1 & S2 HPW8 CP20

Prerequisite: COFA3933 Sculpture 3.

This studio based subject centres upon the students' self-initiated work programs which are devised in consultation with their lecturers towards the development of their emerging practice. Tutorials, lectures, field work, the acquisition of advanced skills and studio research methodologies, the presentation of seminars by each student about the content and contexts of their practice are employed to achieve a thorough knowledge and critical awareness of contemporary sculptural practice and an ability to articulate the concerns of their art making.

An experimental approach to sculptural practice is encouraged and may take the form of divergent or interdisciplinary works such as site specific, temporal, ephemeral or performative installations, or the development of particular sculptural forms related to object making, works related to the body, or traditional mediums such as bronze casting.

COFA3953

Sculpture 5

S1 & S2 HPW8 CP20

Prerequisite: COFA3943 Sculpture 4.

This studio based subject focuses on the resolution of the students' self-initiated projects which are devised in consultation with their lecturers towards the development of their emerging practice. Tutorials, lectures, field work, the refinement of skills and studio research methodologies, the presentation of seminars by each student about the content and contexts of their practice are employed to achieve the synthesis of conceptual concerns and studio practice.

The students are required to furnish support material, visual documentation of works produced during their sculpture studies, along with a body of works that represent the culmination of an intensive application of their study of sculptural practice.

COFA3944

Time Based Art 4

S1 & S2 HPW8 CP20

Prerequisite: COFA3934 Time Based Art 3.

This subject furthers the students' knowledge of the art historical contexts and inter-disciplinary skills necessary to time based art practices. Students are expected to develop an area of research relevant to their individual art practice. The students concentrate on producing a substantial body of work which demonstrates an understanding and refinement of the concepts and contexts central to their work. Specialised content extend the students technical and conceptual skills in the use of film, video, audio and multi-media computing technologies. Concurrently, the subject deepens the students' critical comprehension of time based forms through study and analysis of different art works in the screening and presentation programs.

COFA3954

Time Based Art 5

S1 & S2 HPW8 CP20

Prerequisite: COFA3944 Time Based Art 4.

Students produce a substantial project which demonstrates an understanding and refinement of the concepts and contexts central to their work and are expected to develop an area of research relevant to their individual art practice. Students refine their technical and conceptual skills in film, video, audio or multimedia computing. Concurrently, the subject supports the students' critical comprehension of time based forms through study and analysis of different art works in the screening and presentation program.
